The battle for Karachi
A hundred beats

By Fatima Bhutto

Stop.

We've had enough.

Our city is not a battleground. Karachi is not a flashpoint. And we will not be ground zero for the orchestrated violence of the establishment.

.....Then there is the city government of Karachi. Does the MQM think we've forgotten the early 90s? Do they earnestly think we don't remember the street violence, target killings, and torture cells of 1994 and 1995?
